A MESSAGE FROM THE NATIONAL PRESIDENT AND CEO

Andrew Smith

Ron Mell

It is within the very fabric and identity of the YMCA Movement to provide programs and services for children, young people and their families.

A child-safe organisation acknowledges that safety does not just happen. It requires conscious action to protect children from harm. It extends guardianship to all children and young people. The YMCA strives for an inclusive society where everyone has the opportunity to reach his or her potential. The YMCA is a Movement of people committed to provide opportunities for all people to grow in body, mind and spirit. Caring about the welfare of children and young people is our first consideration.

The YMCA has a legal, moral and Mission-driven responsibility to protect children and young people from harm. So we have developed this policy, the YMCA Licence Standards, the local Member procedures and guidelines. These administrative instruments acknowledge and codify within the Y that the safety of children and young people is paramount. The priority to protect children and young people will apply equally in all our YMCA locations, by all who take on the YMCA name and by all who work with or for the YMCA.

Everyone who is bound by this policy is expected to do all they can to ensure every child or young person in the care of the YMCA is safe from harm. It is the responsibility of all at the YMCA, from Board Directors to staff and volunteers, to understand the important role they personally have to play to ensure the safety of the children and young people in their care is at the forefront of all they do and every decision they make.

This is the inaugural National Council of YMCAs endorsed Safeguarding Children and Young People Policy. At this time our focus is to provide robust and easily understandable child protection initiatives for the YMCA Movement in Australia. With this policy we reiterate our commitment to the way we improve child protective practice within the YMCA.

DEFINITIONS OF ABUSE

Term	Definition
Emotional or psychological abuse	Emotional or psychological abuse occurs when a child or young person does not receive the love, affection or attention they need for healthy emotional, psychological and social development. Such abuse may involve repeated rejection or threats to a child or young person. Constant criticism, teasing, ignoring, threatening, yelling, scapegoating, ridicule and rejection or continual coldness are all examples of emotional abuse. These behaviors continue to an extent that results in significant damage to the child or young person's physical, intellectual or emotional wellbeing and development.
Physical abuse	Physical abuse occurs when a person subjects a child or young person to non-accidental physically aggressive acts. The abuser may inflict an injury intentionally, or inadvertently as a result of physical punishment or the aggressive treatment of a child. Physically abusive behavior includes (but is not limited to) shoving, hitting, slapping, shaking, throwing, punching, biting, burning and kicking. It also includes giving children or young people harmful substances such as drugs, alcohol or poison. Certain types of punishment, whilst not causing injury can also be considered physical abuse if they place a child or young person at risk of being hurt.
Sexual abuse	Sexual abuse occurs when an adult involves a child or young person in any sexual activity. Sexual abuse also occurs when a child or young person involves another child or young person in any sexual activity. Perpetrators of sexual abuse take advantage of their power, authority or position over the child or young person for their own benefit. It can include making sexual comments to a child or young person, engaging children or young people to participate in sexual conversations over the internet or on social media, kissing, touching a child or young person's genitals or breasts, oral sex or intercourse. Encouraging a child or young person to view pornographic magazines, websites and videos is also sexual abuse.
Neglect	Neglect is the persistent failure or deliberate denial to provide the child or young person with the basic necessities of life. Such neglect includes the failure to provide adequate food, clothing, shelter, adequate supervision, clean water, medical attention or supervision to the extent that the child or young person's health and development is, or is likely to be, significantly harmed. Categories of neglect include physical neglect, medical neglect, abandonment or desertion, emotional neglect and educational neglect. The issue of neglect must be considered within the context of resources reasonably available to the family.
Witnessing Family Violence	Witnessing family violence is a specific form of emotional and psychological abuse. Witnessing family violence occurs when children or young people are forced to live with violence between adults in their home. It is harmful to children and young people. It can include witnessing violence or the consequences of violence. Family violence is defined as violence between members of a family or extended family or those fulfilling the role of family in a child or young person's life. Exposure to family violence places children and young people at increased risk of physical injury and harm and has a significant impact on their wellbeing and development.
Sexual exploitation	Sexual exploitation occurs when children or young people are forced into sexual activities that are then recorded in some way and/or used to produce pornography. Such pornography can be in the form of actual photos or videos or published on the internet. Exploitation can also involve children or young people who are forced into prostitution.
Harm	Harm, to a child or young person, is any detrimental effect of a significant nature on the child or young person's physical, psychological or emotional wellbeing. It is immaterial how the harm is caused. Harm can be caused by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • physical, psychological or emotional abuse or neglect; or • sexual abuse or exploitation; • a single act, omission or circumstance; or • a series or combination of acts, omissions or circumstances.
Bullying	Bullying involves the inappropriate use of power by one or more persons over another less powerful person or group and is generally an act that is repeated over time. Bullying has been described by researchers as taking many forms which are often interrelated and include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Verbal (name calling, put downs, threats) • Physical (hitting, punching, kicking, scratching, tripping, spitting) • Social (ignoring, excluding, ostracising, alienating) • Psychological (spreading rumours, stalking, dirty looks, hiding or damaging possessions).

WHAT WE EXPECT FROM OUR YMCA PEOPLE

We expect our YMCA People not to harm or exploit children who access our services.

It is a serious breach of this policy, and possibly the law, if a YMCA Person harms or exploits children and young people who are involved in any of our services. Breaches of this policy include, but are not limited to, YMCA People who:

- sexually assault children or young people who are involved in one of our programs;
- physically assault children or young people who are involved in one of our programs;
- verbally abuse, denigrate or bully children or young people who are involved in one of our programs;
- sexually harass children or young people who are involved in one of our programs;
- take, reproduce and/or distribute photos of children or young people without the consent of their guardians;
- publish any material containing images of children or young people who are involved in one of our programs that can be used for the sexual gratification of others.

Therefore, we expect all our YMCA People to understand the meanings of abuse contained within this Policy.

We expect our YMCA People to understand children's rights.

An understanding of children and young people's rights is an important basis for all the programs and services that we offer to children, young people and their families. It enables us to identify when children's needs and entitlements are compromised and when they require support.

Therefore, we expect our YMCA People to have a working knowledge of children and young people's rights appropriate to their role and use it to inform decisions about how to behave and act with and on behalf of children and young people.

We expect our YMCA People to be respectful of children and young people.

As part of our commitment to children and young people, we will facilitate opportunities for children and young people to tell us their views and feedback about the services we provide to them. We will treat children as individuals and respect their unique abilities and vulnerabilities.

Therefore, we expect YMCA People to express attitudes and engage in behaviour that respect and support children and young people.

We expect that our YMCA People do not contravene any policies, regulations or laws in relation to the safety and protection of children and young people.

It is a serious breach of this policy if a YMCA Person contravenes any regulations or laws in relation to the safety and protection of children whether or not they are working or volunteering at the time.

We expect our YMCA People to understand and acknowledge the significance of family relationships for children and young people.

Families, in all their diverse forms, are the foundation of children and young people's development.

Families can act as supportive resources for growth and resilience in children and young people. Family relationships can also restrain and harm children and young people's functioning. Families are the single most significant influence in shaping the way children and young people develop and perceive their sense of identity.

The YMCA will provide documentation in developmentally appropriate language and in translation to accommodate the main communities that access our services.

Therefore, we expect YMCA People to recognise, respect and work to strengthen the capacities of parents/carers and other family members to care and protect their children.

We expect our YMCA People to always follow the Code of Conduct endorsed by their Licensed Member Association.

A code of conduct sets out the rules for behavior with and around children and young people. The YMCA code of conduct aims to ensure that YMCA People are always safe adults who act to protect children and young people. All YMCA People will be engaged and employed within the requirements of the code of conduct.

Therefore, we will request all YMCA People to endorse and affirm their understanding of the YMCA code of conduct.

We expect our YMCA People to understand and respond to the special needs of all children and young people.

We acknowledge that all children and young people are vulnerable due to their age and associated stage of development. We also understand that we will need to be proactive in recognising the additional vulnerability to exploitation and harm that children and young people with developmental delays or disabilities experience.

The YMCA will provide documentation in developmentally appropriate language and in translation to accommodate the main communities that access our services.

Therefore, we expect our YMCA People to act in ways that communicate effectively with and are supportive of children and young people.

We expect our YMCA People to show extended guardianship to all children and young people.

Experience of abuse, family violence, neglect, bullying and exploitation are significant sources of trauma for children and intensify the risk of children and young people developing a range of emotional, psychological, social and behavioural problems. Child/young person physical abuse and sexual abuse is a crime. Interventions which identify risk factors of abuse and prevent it from happening are instrumental in supporting children and families. Extended guardianship means YMCA People need to understand the indicators of child abuse and exploitation. YMCA People are to understand that perpetrators of abuse can be male or female. They can be old, young, peers, friends, Board Directors, employees, volunteers. There is no stereotypical construct of an offender of sexual abuse. Sexual abuse can occur in contexts that do not have adequate controls on behaviour, environments and relationships. Abuse can be opportunistic, premeditated, or a combination of both. Grooming behaviour can form part of the premeditation. The YMCA needs to provide an environment that acknowledges how abuse occurs and put safeguards in place to create an environment that does not tolerate abuse risk behaviours in any way.

Therefore, notwithstanding our obligations under the law, we expect our YMCA People to ensure that appropriate action is taken to respond to concerns about the wellbeing or safety of a child or young person.

We expect our YMCA People to know and follow the law in relation to reporting child abuse.

We expect YMCA People to know and follow relevant laws in their state/territory jurisdiction to report child abuse, family violence, neglect or exploitation.

We expect our YMCA People to co-operate with police and/or other formal investigations.

In every circumstance, we expect YMCA People to co-operate to the best of their ability with any formal investigation undertaken by the police or other relevant state/territory authorised body in relation to the care and protection of children and young people.

We expect our YMCA People to respect the cultural and religious practices of families who access our services.

We recognise the importance of culture and religion in the lives of children and families. However, no cultural or religious belief will take precedence over the right of children or young people to be protected from harm.

Therefore, we expect YMCA People to act in ways that are inclusive and respectful of the cultural and religious practices of families who access our services.

We expect our YMCA People to be aware of the formal recruitment, screening and employment practices of the YMCA in relation to working or volunteering with children and families.

All YMCA People will be informed during their recruitment that their employment will be subject to clearance under the relevant state/territory Working with Children Check system, a National Criminal Records Check and local Member Association general screening requirements. It is a serious breach of this policy if an individual, who has convictions that would make him/her ineligible to be granted a Working with Children Check (or equivalent) clearance, gains employment or is allowed to volunteer with children or young people who access our services. It is also a serious breach of this policy, if an individual continues in his/her employment or volunteer role with us if he/she has been charged or convicted of a crime that would make him/her ineligible to be granted a Working with Children Check (or equivalent) clearance.

Therefore, we expect that our YMCA People understand that their continued participation in our organisation is based on the outcomes of these employment practices.

We expect our YMCA People to protect the privacy of children, young people and families.

The YMCA privacy policy will ask for consent from children, young people and their parents/carers before we seek out or provide information about them to any other individuals or organisation. However, we may not ask for consent to disclose information to Police, a regulatory authority or a statutory child protection agency in the event that we have concerns about the safety and well-being of a specific child or young person. The YMCA Privacy document will outline how this will work.

Therefore, we expect our YMCA People to protect the privacy of children, young people and families.

We expect our YMCA People to act on any concerns raised by children, young people and/or their parents/carers.

We will take seriously any concerns or issues raised by children, young people and/or their parents. We will investigate all complaints or allegations made against any of our Board Directors, staff or volunteers relating to a breach of any YMCA policy or operational procedure. We will ensure that we report any abuse crimes against children or young people to Police or other relevant legislated authorities in accordance with the law.

Therefore, we expect our YMCA People to follow our complaints procedure without hesitation in response to concerns raised by children, young people and/or their parents/carers.
